THE HOG QUESTION

Argued in Police Court Saturday—No Decision Reached as Yet and the Case Is Being Tried at Press Time.

The case of M. C. Hutchison, charged with maintaining a nuisance, was tried in Police Court Saturday.

The case was opened at 10 o'clock in the morning and the city introduced the evidence of Mr. Frank Clark, the president of the Board of Health. Mr. Clark stated that he had visited the premises of Mr. Hutchison but had not made any personal inspection of the pen. He said that there was a very distinct odor of a hog pen from where he stood, about twenty feet from the pen. He said that he did not know the number of hogs in the pen. He said that he had issued a notice to Mr. Hutchison that the pens were a nuisance but that he had refused to remedy the evil.

Mr. Thomas P. Boone was also introduced by the city but his evidence was very meager.

Mr. A. D. Cole, the attorney for the defendant, then made his argument asking that the case be dismissed as the Board of Health had seemingly taken a judicial power in their hands. He argued that this was unconstitutional and cited several instances in support of his argument.

City Attorney Calhoun made clear in his argument that the case was being tried, not for an infringement of an order of the Board of Health but for maintaining a nuisance. He was upheld by Judge Whitaker.

The court then adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock and during this time the Board again visited the hog pens. At the opening of the court Dr. Yazell, the health officer, stated that the pen was unsanitary, as were all such inclosures.

The defense then argued that the notice had been signed only by one member of the Board of Health. Mr. Clark stated he had been authorized to sign the notice by the other members of the board, Mr. Verner Dryden and Mr. Hall Strobe. The defense attempted to prove that Mr. Dryden had not given his consent but as he was not there, Mr. Cole asked that the trial be postponed until this morning to get the evidence of Mr. Dryden. The court was postponed until this morning at 9 o'clock. At press time we could not learn of the result of the case.

MR. WILLIAM CADY

Formerly of This City Killed by Auto in Washington City Saturday Afternoon.

Mr. William Cady, formerly of this city, was killed in Washington, D. C., Saturday afternoon by an auto. The particulars of the fatal accident were not obtainable.

Mr. Cady was an employee of the Government Printing Office in that city. He was born in this city in 1866 and was 60 years of age on last June 2. He worked for Thomas A. Davis, former editor of this paper, on the Weekly Republican. For some time he was also connected with the Bulletin office. From Maysville he went to Frankfort, Ky., and later to Washington, D. C., where he was located for about twenty-five years. He leaves a wife and five children, four boys and one girl. He also leaves four brothers and two sisters, Mr. Walter Cady of Allendale, Ill.; Herbert Cady of Chicago; Howard Cady of Cincinnati, and Frank Cady of this city; Mrs. J. T. Kackley and Mrs. L. M. Mills of this city.

The funeral will take place in Washington tomorrow afternoon. The full particulars of the accident will be announced later.

Miss Ruth Willett left this morning for Cincinnati.

DEVELOPMENTS

Are Expected Within a Few Days in Railroad Strike Situation—President Wilson's Week of Conferences Is Believed to Have Brought Controversy to This Point.

Washington, August 20—President Wilson's week of conferences with ranking officials of the railroads and leaders of their employees threatening a nation-wide strike, are believed by all parties to the controversy to have brought the situation to a point where decisive developments may be expected within a few days. While the negotiations took no actual forward step today, the President replied indirectly to contentions of the road officials, that the principles of arbitration would be endangered by his plan for putting an eight-hour working day into effect, while a commission investigates its practicability and passes on other points at issue.

In a telegram made public at the White House the President declared he held firmly to arbitration as a principle and that his plan strengthened rather than weakened it. He said also that some means must be found to prevent the existing situation from arising again.

Road Officials Still Confer
Meantime the road officials, who have tentatively refused to accept Mr. Wilson's proposal, continued conferences among themselves. The labor leaders, who already have approved the proposal, marked time awaiting a definite decision from the employers.

The President's telegram defending his plan was in reply to an appeal from George Pope, president of the National Association of Manufacturers urging that the principles of arbitration be preserved in the strike negotiations.

There were no outward developments today pending arrival of the additional railroad executives to whom the President sent invitations yesterday. Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern and several other western railroads, and others are expected at night. Representatives of both sides are prepared to remain here until the final word is spoken and a strike declared or averted.

President Wilson made no engagements for tomorrow in order to be ready to continue negotiations with the railroad presidents, but it was thought probable there would be no further general White House conference until Tuesday. Although the railroad executives continued to maintain their position in opposition to the President's plan and in favor of arbitration, administration officials expressed hope that ultimately they would decide to negotiate on the basis proposed by Mr. Wilson.

Counter Proposals Expected
It was understood tonight that a counter proposal was under consideration by the railroad executives, but that it had not yet reached a definite stage. It was said to include arbitration of at least some of the points at issue, with the granting of others.

In the meantime telegrams urging the President to insist on arbitration arrived in large numbers at the White House. Most of them were sent by business men and firms and organizations.

HAYES TRIAL TODAY

The trial of Fred Hayes, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, will be tried this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Police Court.

SWEEP OUT THE FILTH

When a house floor is covered with filth all decent and self-respecting people get a broom and commence to sweep.

Mexico is the house floor today and the United States is the man with the broom. It is time to sweep.

For five years anarchy has been prevailing in that country, and for five years each day has seen the prevailing conditions just a little worse than the day before. It has been a retrograde movement since the day President Diaz fled to France.

Today we are witnessing the assembling of a new army of nearly a hundred thousand men, called to the colors because the president deems it wise to sweep the dirty Mexican floor.

This movement of the troops to the Mexican border may be but the prelude to a general war with Mexico. If such is to be, then the American army should not be withdrawn until every vestige of filth has been swept from the republic to our south and a land once fair shall have been made over into a place of habitation for rational human beings.

It is not a pleasant task to undertake, but it seems to be a burden placed upon the shoulders of the American people. It will be accomplished without fuss or feathers or bluster or blow—accomplished as the people perform their routine duties of life, for such is the American spirit.

The Stars and Stripes should be respected wherever and whenever they are unfurled. Let us see that it is so.

Sweep out the filth.

THE SPIRIT OF THEN AND NOW

When war with Spain was declared in 1898 thousands of young men left their employment and went to the front in defense of their country. When the war was over these young soldiers returned home and in a majority of cases found their jobs filled by other people and themselves out of employment and without prospects for the future. Such was the reward of valor in 1898.

Today thousands of the principal business institutions of the country have announced that all members of the National Guard who have responded to the president's call will not only find their jobs waiting for them on their return but will have their full salaries paid to their families during their absence. Such is the spirit of 1916.

A little reflection should convince the most skeptical that not all of the patriotism of this country flows in the veins of men with a gun. The civilian has his duty to perform, and he, too, performs it as the man he is.

The one grasps his gun and goes out to fight the battles of his country, while the other supplies the sinews of war with which to fight.

It is a combination of valor and fidelity which in time should prove invincible. Let us hope that such it may be.

THE ONE-TERM RULE

Some dispute having arisen as to the constitutionality of our Free-Trade President's one-term platform bid for ballots, the people, being a law-abiding nation, carried the question to the U. S. Supreme Court. And Justice Hughes rules that one term is enough for President Wilson.—American Economist.

OLD SCHEDULE K.

Franklin County Recorder: But don't try to make us believe that the free wool proviso in the Underwood tariff law made wool go up in this country. We are not so gullible.

The Pittsburg industrial development commission predicts that Pittsburg will become the dyestuffs center of the country, if not of the world, within the next five years. Evidently they look forward with confidence to the return of the Republican party and a protective duty on dyestuffs.

Already the drift has set in toward candidate Hughes. That the current of public sentiment will run more strongly in that direction as the campaign gathers impetus is not to be doubted.

NEW YORK LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Democrats Ignore Primaries—Senator Clark of Wyoming, who is standing for re-election, has been spending some days in New York. Senator Clark charges the Democrats of his state with ignoring the primary law, which was an issue in that state for years, but which the Democrats always disliked. The Democrats have entered no candidates for the Senate in the primary race, although it is, according to Senator Clark, their purpose to run the present governor, John H. Kendrick, a wealthy cattle man. This they will effect by having his name put on the ticket by petition, after the primaries have been held. By this means Mr. Kendrick will be saved from that scrutiny by the voters which is inevitable where a candidate runs in the primaries, and which is one of the most beneficial features of the primary system. Gov. Hughes will open the campaign on August 25, at Ceyenne.

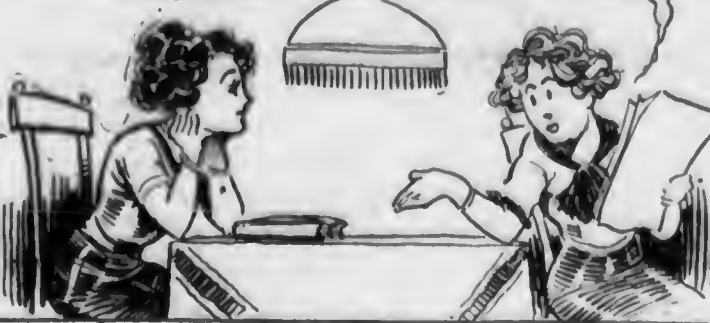

Hughes Record Helps—When Mr. Hughes said at Fargo, "I'd like to have authority to investigate this administration for six months," everybody cheered. Why? Because Mr. Hughes' reputation as an efficient and merciless investigator had gone before him. His audience remembered the thorough and merciless investigation to which he subjected the insurance companies and they recalled, too, that it made not the slightest difference to him whether it was corrupt contributions to the Republican or to the Democratic campaign funds that he was exposing. People who have been paying special taxes, stamp taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes, etc., for the last three years, with the prospect of paying more when the pending revenue bill is passed, would like a Hughes investigation, not only of the present administration but of all previous administrations, that there may be some check on the gross extravagance of public expenditures, the criminal waste of the people's money.

Republicans Fighting—The Republican nomination for Governor of New York from New York apparently is not to be made at the dictation of the party convention, but will have to be fought out in the primaries. Gov. Whitman was renominated by the convention and former Rep. Calder was named for Senator. Their claims are to be contested, however. Robert Bacon, who served with credit as First Asst. Secretary of States and for thirty days as Secretary of State, under Mr. Roosevelt, and was later Ambassador to France, will make a contest in the primaries for the Senatorial nomination, while it is expected that Harvey D. Hinman will make a contest for nomination for Governor. It is too early to predict what effect these contests will have on Republican chances but the leaders do not seem greatly worried by the prospect. In the case of the Democrats a compromise was reached in the convention whereby Tammany named William F. McCombs for Senator and Messrs. Wilson and McAdoo named Judge Samuel Seabury for Governor, so that the Democratic primaries promise to be a cut and dried affair.

"Deserving Democrats"—A "deserving Democrat," according to a captious Democratic critic (who probably failed to come through,) is one who contributed according to his means to the Wilson campaign fund. He points out, at any rate, that those who did contribute liberally landed good government jobs, notably in the diplomatic service. He complains, however, that it takes a far larger contribution from a Northerner than from a Southerner to land a good place at the pie-counter. For instance, it cost General Penfield, Charles Crane, Morganthau, McCombs and Jones an average of $24,500 each for good jobs, whereas, the Southern rate is only $350, as evidenced by the fact that that was the average contribution of Daniels, Burleson, Gregory and McReynolds, all in the cabinet. In this connection it is also maintained that while most of the taxes collected by this administration have come from the North, the lion's share of the expenditures have been made in the South. The bulk of the $42,000,000 "pork barrel" goes to the South, in addition to $21,000,000 for a nitrate plant, big sums for navy yards, many of which are obsolete $50,000,000 for river improvement and flood control, etc.

Navy Victory—New York, probably the greatest and richest city in the world which is at the mercy of a hostile fleet, is rejoiced over the victory of the preparedness program in the House, which has adopted, apparently without serious modification, the Senate program which provides for the construction of 81 new vessels, of all kinds, the first year, and of 167 within three years. Representative Mann, the Republican leader, praised the action of the House enthusiastically, pointing out that the bill as passed was precisely what the Republicans had

ATHLETIC EVENTS TO BE A NEW AND NOTABLE EXHIBITION AT STATE FAIR

Statewide Competition Among High School and College Boys Expected to Stimulate Much Interest—A Big Feature for the Final Day of the Fair.

WHILE the curriculum of a school or college does not, as a rule, carry athletics as a part of its course, it is nevertheless a fact that the development of the physical along with the mental is looked upon as of equal if not paramount value to the student. For this reason the Kentucky State Fair management, in planning for the great exhibition in Louisville September 11-16, gave thought to the athletic subject and decided to show just what Kentucky can do in the way of well-developed school boys, by including an Athletic Day in their list of feature events. Saturday, the final day of the Fair, was picked for the time, the matchless half-mile speedway at the Fair as the place and from every college and school in the State a representative "color bearer" for that school will, it is hoped, act as the boy. The direction of the meet will be in the hands of Sam H. McMeekin, sporting editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and president of the Louisville Amateur Athletic Federation. To make the movement the big success desired it is necessary that the management have the co-operation of the schools over the State and the principals of all schools are being urged to communicate with Mr. McMeekin at once. Four classes of competition are provided in the programme, as follows:

When the House first considered it, "I want to keep out of war," said Mr. Mann, "but we should be prepared to protect our rights at home and abroad." The "little navy" men howled dismally, charging Secretary Daniels with having "betrayed" them. Rep. Gardner pointed out that the complaint of the "little navy" men was justified because Mr. Daniels had declared as recently as December 24, last, that the "little navy" program originally adopted by the House would strain the shipyards of the country, while little more than a year ago President Wilson had denounced preparedness as hysteria. Then it was disclosed that the General Board had found that from nine to eleven ships—instead of five—was the capacity of the big shipyards. "Mr. Daniels has been fighting tooth and nail against the navy," said Mr. Gardner, "until he was swept from his feet by public sentiment."

To Go Or Not To Go—Hardly had the ink dried on the administration's announcement that an additional 25,000 militiamen would be sent to the Mexican border, going forward regardless of whether the organizations had been recruited up to the heretofore minimum strength or were properly equipped, when a new announcement was made from Washington that the previous order had been countermanded. General Funston is made to assume responsibility for this change of mind, but those familiar with the extent to which General Funston's prior recommendations have been disregarded look for some other reason than that furnished the public. It is surmised that the suspicion of the railway employees had a considerable part in the administration's change of mind, and that for the rest it is merely another instance of its customary changeableness.

Hughes' Plain Talk—It is the general comment on a Gov. Hughes speech that, whatever else may be said of them, they do not mislead words. The Republican candidate speaks straight from the shoulder. For instance, his declaration that the Democratic plank promising protection to Americans in every part of the world is good doctrine and that he believes in making it real, and "I do not think that in making it real we should encounter the danger of war. I would not shrink if we did," while it appeals to some, rather startles some of the old timers. On the other hand, his coupling his declaration that he would be neither "too proud" nor afraid to fight, with his forceful advocacy of a "world court for the settlement of international disputes," is an occasion of gratification to the host of Americans who, while in no sense cowards, are firmly convinced that war is an evil against which every possible precaution should be taken. Another straight from the shoulder statement which Mr. Hughes made at Tacoma was, "I would not shrink war if it came in the performance of our obvious duty in the protection of American rights. In the protection of American citizens, under international law, we do not endanger our peace. We conserve it."

MAINTENANCE OF AMERICAN RIGHTS

Had this Government by the use of both informal and formal diplomatic opportunities left no doubt that when we meant "strict accountability" we meant precisely what we said, and that we should unhesitatingly vindicate that position, I am confident that there would have been no destruction of American lives by the sinking of the Lusitania. There, we had ample notice; in fact, published notice. Furthermore, we knew the situation and we did not require specific notice. Instead of whittling away our formal statements by equivocal conversations, we need the straight, direct and decisive representations which any diplomat and foreign officer would understand. I believe that in this way we should have been spared the repeated assaults on American lives. Moreover, a firm American policy would have been strongly supported by our people and the opportunities for the development of bitter feeling would have been vastly reduced.—From Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance.

VALUE

Of Wheat Harvest May Not Be Affected by Decrease in Size—Experts Hold Price of Grain Will Be Raised Enough to Provide Returns Equal to Those of Last Two Years.

New York, August 19.—In the mid-spring of 1915 Henry P. Davidson said upon his return home London that there were three conditions which must be satisfactorily established if there were to be a general and very great revival of American prosperity. One of these was the personnel of the newly authorized Federal trade commission. If the members of that body were in sympathy with modern business conditions demanded, then one condition of success would be satisfactorily met.

Since Mr. Davidson thus spoke the Federal trade commission has been organized and its membership seems to represent reasonable understanding of business. The second condition would be established if there came to the United States orders from foreign countries, especially belligerent nations, for American manufactured commodities. Within a few months after Mr. Davidson thus spoke, this condition was well established.

Third Condition Met

The third and from one point of view the most important condition involved a harvest fully equal to the one of the preceding year. It proved to be as great as the harvest of 1914 and with respect to wheat was the greatest harvest the United States has ever garnered—in excess of a billion bushels.

This year, while the promise of harvest is not very satisfactory, nevertheless other conditions are so favorable that the great falling off in the harvest, especially of wheat, has not caused the anxiety in the financial district which would have been the case a year ago.

The unusual climatic conditions of this summer have revived, or lulled, discussion which may prove to be of value hereafter. In equalizing the wheat harvests of the country in the sense that while there may be no great excesses, there will be on the other hand no heavy falling off in this harvest.

California to Come Back

In formation has recently come from California which leads to the impression that it may regain some of its former prestige as a wheat-producing state. There was a time in the early history of California when it stood first among the states of the Union in its harvest of wheat. Its exports of wheat contributed much to the growth of Pacific Coast commerce.

As a wheat producer California rivaled her production of gold in the making of new wealth. For some reason there was falling off in this industry, but the climatic conditions of this summer, which have not especially affected California, are likely to increase the interest already noticeable there in the wheat-growing industry.

The opening up of new Government land to settlers in the far Northwest may be followed in two or three years by greatly increased harvests of wheat in that section of the country. There is no reason why Oregon and Washington should not take high rank as wheat producers. In the days when Oregon was a territory its wheat production constituted no small part of its industry, and a bushel of wheat, through appropriate symbols, became the standard currency of the territory. Oregon was perhaps the first of the American communities to export wheat, for the territories shipped considerable quantities of wheat to Russian North America.

Montana Harvest Big

Men of science have said that in a country of 3,000 square miles—which is approximately the area of the United States—there are not likely to be universal climatic conditions of a harmful character. That statement seems to be borne out by reports from Montana, which, although a neighbor of the Dakotas, where the wheat crop has been greatly impaired, nevertheless is likely to have abundant harvests. In the early spring Dennis Sheedy, who is one of the most influential citizens of Colorado, spent several weeks in New York. He spoke to his friends of the growth of Colorado, both in mining and in the agricultural industry. He was confident that within a few years Colorado would contribute in large measure to the wheat harvests of the United States, for science has now pointed out the way by which wheat cultivation in Colorado can be carried on upon a large scale.

Some weeks ago, Fairfax Harrison, President of the Southern Railroad Company, spoke with pleasure and even enthusiasm of the increased cultivation of wheat in some of the Southern States. Climatic conditions which in other parts of the country, as for instance, in Dakota and Western Minnesota, were unfavorable to wheat, do not prevail ordinarily in the South. If wheat cultivation is to be very successful in the South, there must be different methods adopted from those which made the Dakotas and Montana so successful as wheat raisers.

Income May Be Larger

Some years ago, James J. Hill asserted that it should be possible for the American farmers to secure from 25 to 30 bushels an acre on the average from their wheat fields. He pointed to England, where 30 bushels an acre is an average crop. This, in fact, is the wheat crop which England expects to harvest this year. If the American farmers cultivated wheat and other grains with scientific methods they should harvest each year. Mr. Hill said, crops of the money value of fifteen billion dollars. This year the harvest is not likely to yield ten billion dollars, as it did last year, although some of the authorities think that the falling off in the amount of wheat harvested may so greatly increase the price per bushel as to bring to the farmers as good returns as would be the case if they had great harvests. Other authorities are inclined to think there is a fallacy in this view.

The government report indicates that the farmers will not this year garner more wheat than is necessary for home supply and for seed. Nevertheless the surplus crop of last year will be available for export. Although there may be a falling off in exports of wheat and flour, nevertheless this will be more than made good by the heavy exports of American manufactured commodities, for it is now certain that exports of this kind will continue well into the year 1917.

NO PLACE IN THE CITY TO WATER HORSES

As it stands now there is no place in the city for draymen and teamsters to water their horses. The old watering trough at the corner of Commerce and East Second streets has been removed and it seems as if it will not be put back. The trough at Main street in the Sixth Ward is greatly out of the way and many drivers will let their horses go thirsty rather than go out of their way to give it water. The fountain on Market street is in the central part of the city and easily accessible. From a matter of civic pride it seems as if it should now be turned on. Possibly the reason for the water not being turned on is because they want to make Maysville as dry as possible.

The Chamber of Commerce is working to get farmers to come to this city to buy their goods. Nearly all of the farmers drive a horse to town and by the time they get to this city their horse needs a drink. He must either go to a stable or let the animal go thirsty. If the fountain was turned on the horse could be easily watered. How about turning on the water, Mr. Smith.

GIRL COULD NOT WORK

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORIN, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

Thousands of girls suffer in silence every month rather than consult a physician. If girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a safe and pure remedy made from roots and herbs, much suffering might be avoided.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. (confidential) for advice which will prove helpful.

IT'S SURPRISING

That So Many Maysville People Fail To Recognize Kidney Weakness.

Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells? Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do. Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. Have convinced Maysville people of their merit.

Here's a Maysville case; Maysville testimony. Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

Mrs. John Burns, Maysville, says: "I was subject to severe spells of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. They came on every three or six months and at times I was confined to bed and almost helpless. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick benefit. When I have had slight return attacks of backache, Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to quickly check the trouble."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER. Mrs. Burns said: "The statement I gave before praising Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Corn and tobacco looks well here. Prof. E. Gardner of Wallingford is teaching here.

Hill McRoberts of Sabetha, Kansas, is visiting relatives here. Flem Brammer was in Itowan county recently on business. Big George W. McKee has gone to Bourbon county to work in tobacco.

T. H. Dunaway and wife were recent visitors in Cincinnati, Ohio. Dud McRoberts, our rural mail carrier, now owns 31 fine fox hounds. Hon. Bert Grigsby of Tolesboro who is selling the Studebaker buggies was here this week.

George S. McKee of this place who is an old soldier and pensioner is visiting relatives at Shirley, Ind.

Mrs. J. D. Goodwin, who has been very low with dropsy and rheumatism, is some better at this writing. Squire J. H. Muse of this place found $200 in old bills in a box when he was tearing down an old house on his place last week. No one knows how it came there as it was buried under the floor.

WATERMELONS RATHER HIGH

The watermelons this year are rather high compared to the prices paid in recent years. This year it is hard to get a fair sized melon for less than twenty-five cents and the last year twenty-five ones are now selling for forty cents. Maybe they will go down next week. We hope so because they have been so doggone high that we can not buy them.

Catarh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. RAYMOND SOWARD DEAD

Mr. Raymond Soward of Springfield died at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Plummer of South Wood street early Friday morning. Mr. Soward was about 20 years of age and well liked by those who knew him. The funeral took place yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of his aunt. The interment was made in the Mt. Carmel cemetery. Mr. George W. Harding conducted the services at the home.

WATER YOUR HORSES

This motto was on one of the advertisements of a drug store in Cincinnati. A man also took it for the subject of a speech and when he was through speaking another man said "Tell me now where to get the water to water my horse with." Such a question is a timely one for Maysville in its present street conditions. Last Friday a team of horses on East Second street was worked without giving them water until they were so thirsty that when water was given them one became water foundered and had to suffer a second time because of the cruelty of neglect and carelessness. We have been told that boys are paid five dollars a week to carry water to the men who work on the streets. Horses need water as often as the men do. They should have water several times each morning and afternoon. They are doing extra hard and heavy work, and every water trough on our streets, and the fountain on Market street should be full of water for the use of these animals.

The fountain has been dry all this long hot summer and now some of the water troughs are out of use by the condition of the streets, and our horses are suffering in consequence. Why do people shut their eyes and ears to this shameful neglect on the part of those in authority, and say nothing in behalf of those who can not speak for themselves?

CONGRESS MAY ADJOURN FIRST OF SEPTEMBER

Washington, August 26—Adjournment of Congress now waits only on the passage of the emergency revenue bill repassage of the army appropriation bill with amendments to meet President Wilson's veto, optimistic over the rapid progress of legislation within the last few days say they would be ready to adjourn next Saturday if the House could be prevailed upon to accept the amended revenue bill without a fight. This does not seem likely, however, and because of some discussion that may arise over general deficiency appropriations, Congress probably will not be ready for the adjournment gavel before September 1 or 2.

BEAUTIFUL SIGHT

Several persons of the city are telling this morning of a sight rarely witnessed, that of an electrical storm in a fog. Last night about 1 o'clock there was a heavy electrical storm back of Aberdeen. A heavy fog lay on the river and the flashes of lightning through the fog produced many weird effects. It is said that the sight was very beautiful and we are sorry that we did not see it too.

USING MAIN TRACK

The Street Car Company is using the main track this morning between Poplar and Union streets. Transfers are being made at Union street as the turnout switch has not been installed. The turnout will now be given to Cary Reed & Co., who will be able to push their work more rapidly.

SUTTON STREET BRICK ALL LAID

STRENUOUS DAY

Put in By Hughes Republican Nominee Rests on Sunday But Put in Much Time in Visiting Gov. Johnson at Same Hotel But Does Not See Him

Los Angeles, Cal., August 20—Chas. E. Hughes spent a strenuous day of rest in Los Angeles today. He reached the city shortly before 10 o'clock from San Francisco, went to church, held a public reception at this hotel, took a hundred-mile motor drive, visiting Pasadena and Long Beach, stopped at Los Angeles Museum on the way back and did not reach his hotel to-night until more than an hour after he had expected to do so.

Governor Johnson remained in his room while Mr. Hughes was at the hotel. The nominee held an informal reception for half an hour there, shaking hands with a crowd that filled the hotel lobby and overflowed into the streets.

Governor Johnson reached the hotel at Long Beach shortly after 4 o'clock, having motored from Bakerfield where he made a speech last night in his senatorial campaign. Mr. Hughes and his party reached the hotel shortly after 5 o'clock.

During the time that Mr. Hughes was at the hotel, Governor Johnson remained in his room chatting with friends. It was said authoritatively that Governor Johnson did not know that Mr. Hughes had been at the hotel until after the nominee's departure and that the Governor did not know last night when he reserved rooms at the hotel that Mr. Hughes was expected there today. Governor Johnson declined to comment on Mr. Hughes' visit to Long Beach or his failure to see the nominee.

MANY ATTEND FAIR

A great number from this city attended the Fleming county fair at Bowling, held during the last three days of last week. A large crowd went out Saturday, the L. & N. selling over a hundred excursion tickets to that point. Several extra coaches were needed to accommodate the large crowd. The day was ideal and all who attended report a fine time.

MAY FINISH SOUTH SIDE OF EAST SECOND STREET THIS WEEK

The sub-contractors, Hise and Day, expect to have all of the excavating done and ready for the concrete to be poured on the South side of East Second street as far as Union street this week. Undoubtedly some concreting will be done as the larger part of the excavation is already done.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL

The funeral of Col. Samuel P. Bridges held at the Third Street M. E. Church was well attended by his many friends and admirers. Mr. Bridges was one of the members of the local Post of the G. A. R. and all of his comrades that could come to the funeral were present. He was buried in Maysville Cemetery.

MATERIAL ARRIVES

A large amount of material to be used in the construction of the asphalt streets in the Sixth Ward arrived Saturday and will be unloaded today. These contractors mean business and may finish their contract before either of the other contractors with the brick streets, although they were the last to begin.

WATER BEING PUMPED OUT

The pumpboats at the government works just above the city are busy this morning in pumping out the cofferdam which was flooded late Friday afternoon. A loss of about a week's time will result from the rise of the river. The river is falling rapidly this morning.
